THE CHIEF 1936

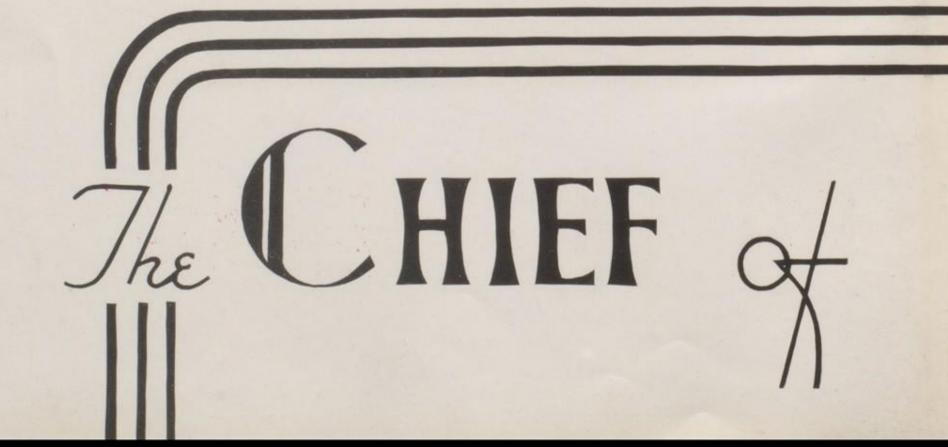

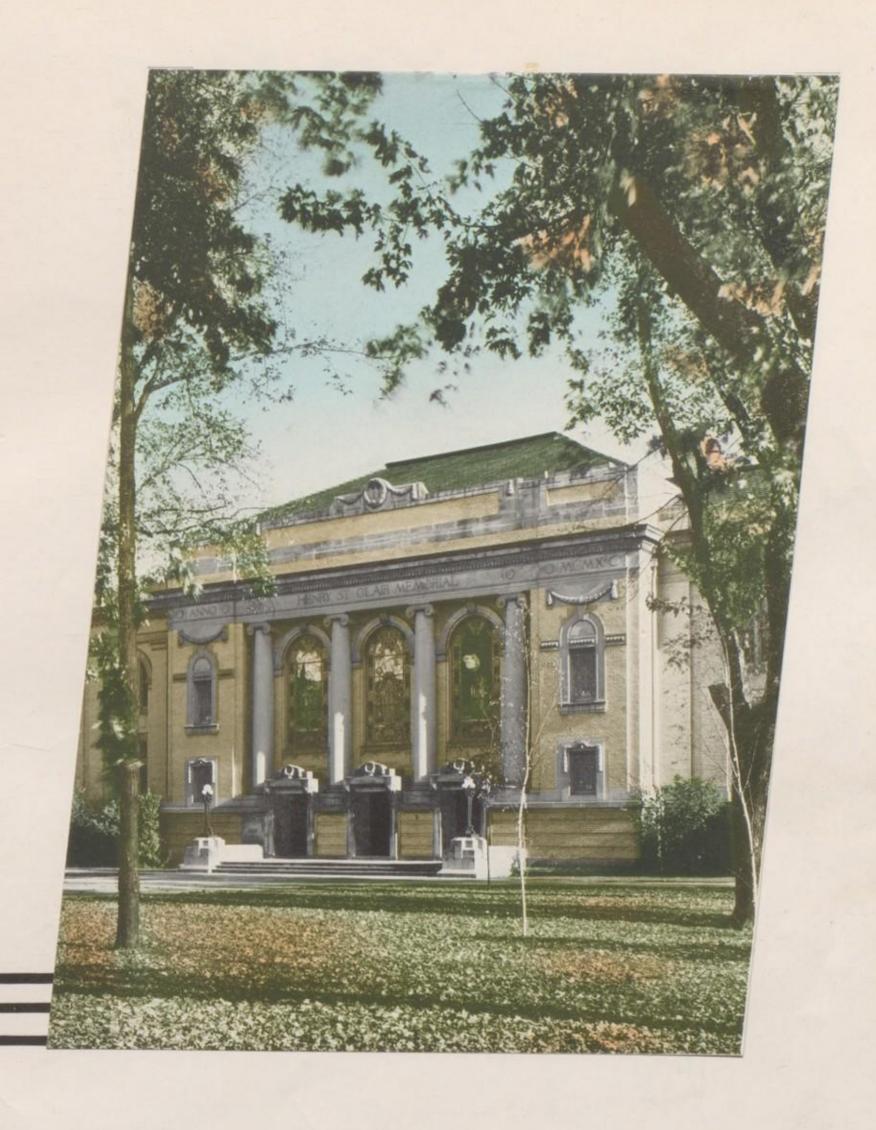

EX LIBRIS

Published by the Senior Class of
Greenville High School
Greenville, Ohio

This school year, replete with memories and loyalty for our school, must pass away like twilight's shadows at the end of a well-lived day.

To you we offer these reminiscences of this period of our lives, the joys of which we can never again experience. We have not followed a beaten path, but have cleared new ones. We have worked hard to create something distinctive, something typical of the new, better Greenville High School.

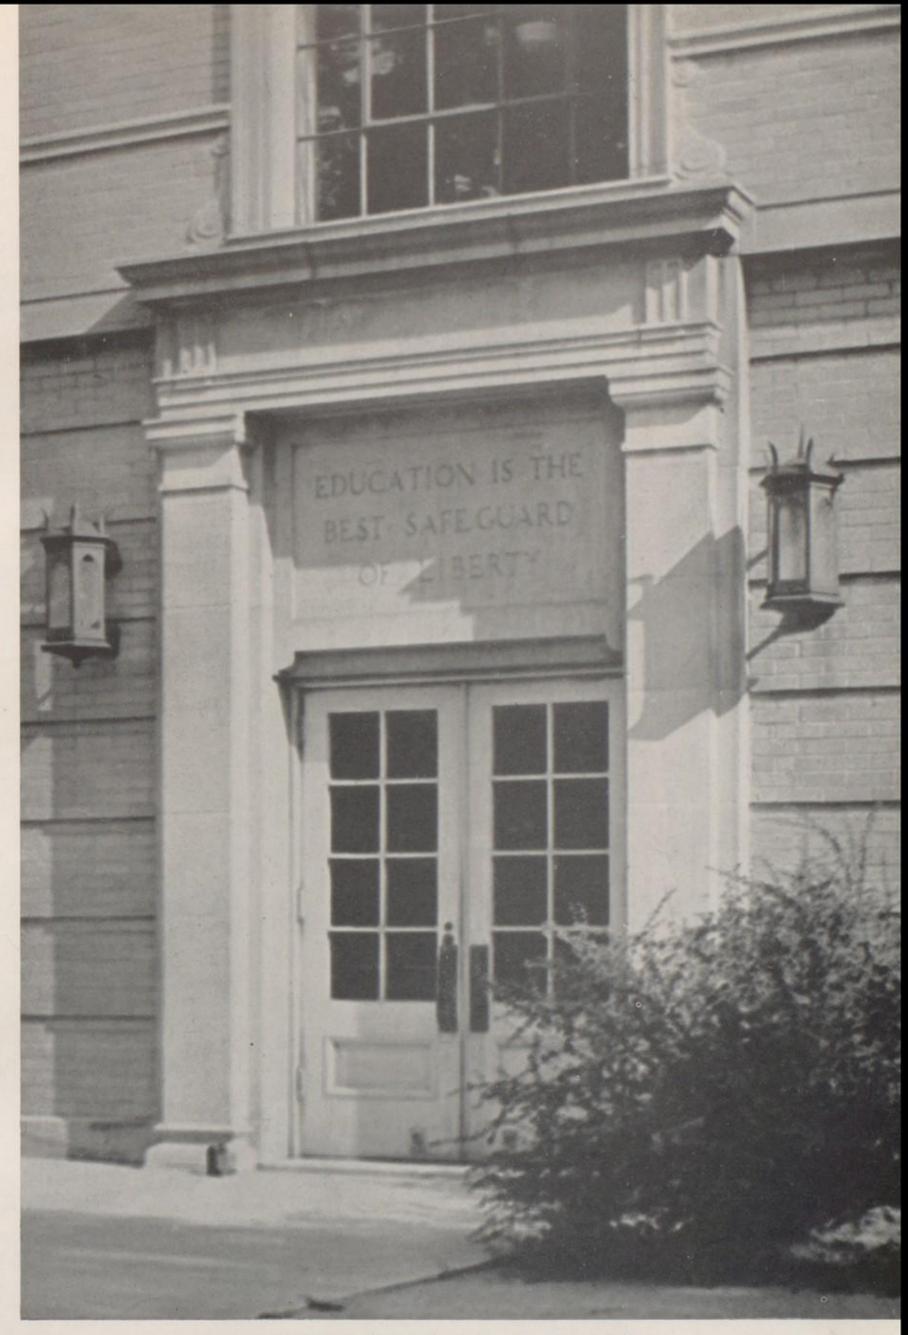

This Annual is dedicated to no tangible thing, but rather to an atmosphere. It cannot be seen, and yet it prevails everywhere throughout Greenville High School—in the class-rooms—in the halls—in the auditorium—in the gym, and on the football field. Some essence of it will follow us all the days of our lives and make them fuller and richer by its mere presence.

And so to School Spirit we dedicate the Chief of 1936. May it soar high in the minds of every student who enters the portals of G. H. S.!

OFO!

"Go forth under the open sky and list to Nature teaching."

"Through the opening door that time unlocks I feel the fresh breathing of tomorrow creep."

YOUTH

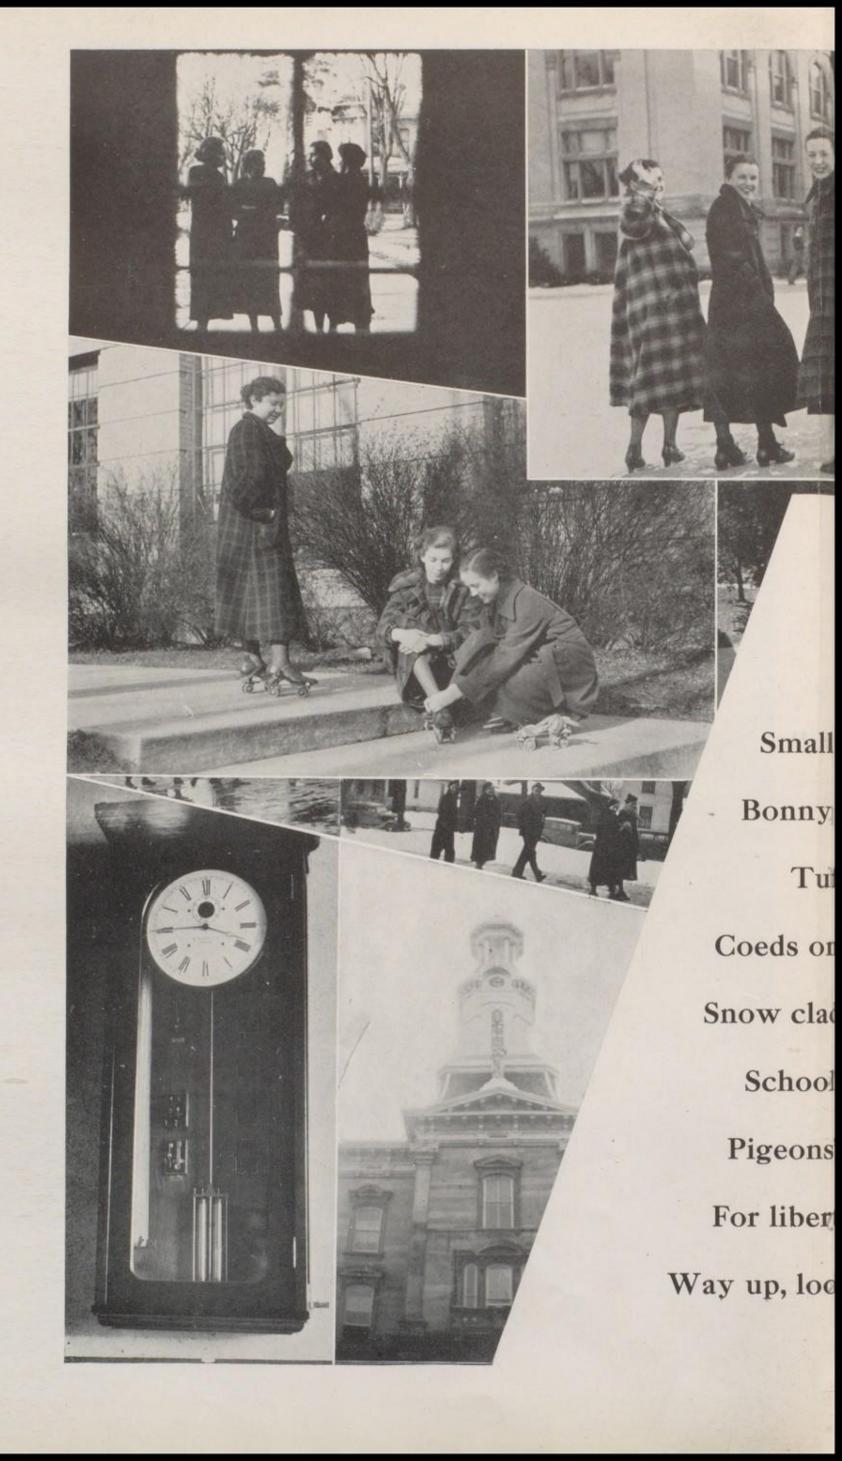

Take from me very childish ways;
Fill with trouble all my days;
Break my heart, if break you must;
Take from me unfailing trust.
Leave me nought—not even truth.
Take me all—but leave me Youth.

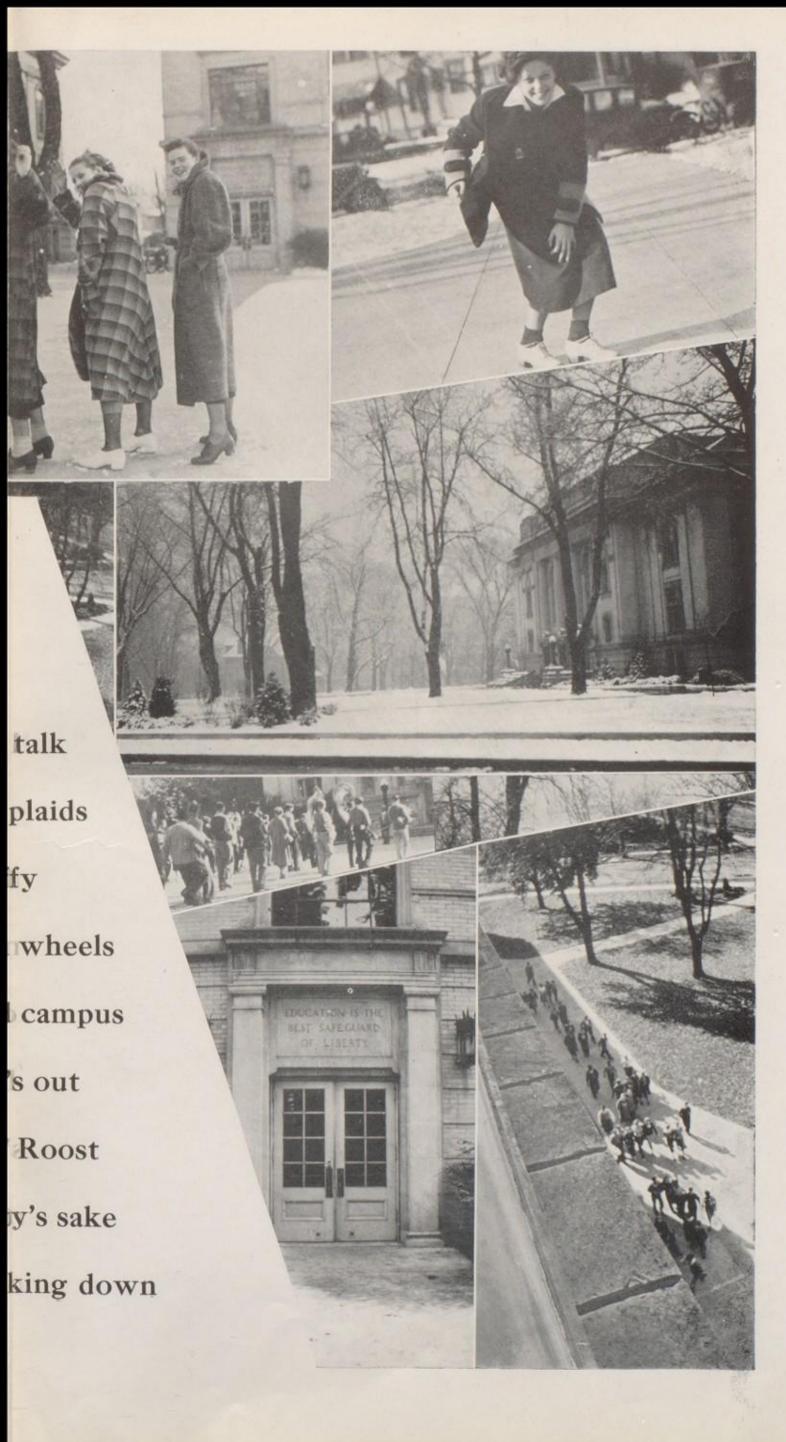

Leave budding, glowing youth to me: So I can wonder at the sea, And walk alone along the shore And think long thoughts, and nothing more.

With Youth, together, hand in hand I'll walk about the growing land;
Through sun and shade and sand and clover;
Sit by springs that bubble over;
See nature there and understand
Why man and she go hand in hand.

-Eugene Wagner.

THE KILL-DEER

From out the studded skies the ghostly moon bent low,

And in its light the lacy trees swayed gently to and fro,

And cast their pallid shadows upon a world asleep.

There was no sound that could be heard from out that silence deep.

Then suddenly, from its sleepy, drowsy death,

The world revived and seemed to catch its breath.

By some weird cry the stillness had been broke:

From 'cross the hoary meadow a wild kill-deer had spoke:

It was the meloncholy-or was it gay?

Harbinger of a new-born day.

Quickly fainted the ghostly moon; the wee stars scurried away.

Quickly mounted the glaring sun and turned night into day.

And sadly I heaved a mournful sign,

For I knew I should never again hear

The plaintive and the mystic cry

Of the savagely, wild and free kill-deer.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Election to National Honor Society is the award for a high school life well lived. Wearers of the society's key may well be proud of belonging to an organization which is recognized and respected throughout the United States and possessions.

Students are selected on the basis of character, service, leadership, and scholarship. They are initiated at an impressive chapel service. New members are tapped individually by a teacher and escorted to the stage where they receive their pins—a crowning moment in their high school lives!

HONORARY DRAMATIC SOCIETY

Any student who is in the cast of a three-act play automatically becomes a member of Honorary Dramatic Society. The organization was formed in order that those who do work in dramatic productions receive recognition.

The club is still in its infancy, but it is hoped that someday it will become a valuable factor in the dramatic life of Greenville High School. In will do much in furthering interest in the plays and in encouraging students to attend the tryouts.

The Girl Reserve is one of the most active organizations in G. H. S. Each class has its individual Friendship Group which holds monthly meetings at which very beneficial discussions are planned.

The club as a whole sponsored an inspirational Christmas vesper service, served hot lunches in the cafeteria, and climaxed the year with its annual banquet.

HI-Y CLUB

RALPH PLESSINGER, President

GEORGE WEISENBARGER, Vice-President
ELWOOD LEPHART, Treasurer GLENN HARTER, Secretary
CHARLES H. DETLING, Sponsor

The Hi-Y organization is open to any boy in Senior High who wishes to join. Outside speakers attend several of the regular meetings and greatly add to the boys' knowledge.

In the fall the members visited the Ohio Penitentiary, and later they were taken on an excursion through the City Hospital of Greenville.

On March 12 the club acted as host to the district Hi-Y training conference.

The Reporters' Club was organized in September, 1932.

The G. H. S. Advocate is published weekly by the Reporters' Club in order that the citizens may know more about the activities of the school. Thus the members of this club not only serve their school, but also have the opportunity to learn the fundamentals of Journalism. This year the Reporters' Club sponsored a Miami-Valley High School News Clinic, which was attended by members of eighteen different schools.

Journalistic G's were awarded to those who have had published articles amounting to 175 inches.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

FRANCES MOTE, President MARJORIE RAHN, Vice-President MARY MAHER, Secretary PHYLLIS BURNS, Treasurer ELIZABETH ALLREAD, Reporter

PHYLLIS MINNICH, Intramurals

HOPE MORRISON, Food Stand

LYDABELLE BEANBLOSSOM, Sponsor

The purpose of the Girls' Athletic Association is to develop the interest of girls in athletics of all types. Numerals and G's may be earned by a system of points.

During football season, the girls sponsor a food stand at the games. The proceeds from this project are used to carry on the club's work and activities.

Each year the organization holds a Play Day at which they entertain girls from various towns.

In April the girls enjoyed a novel kid party. The years' activities are drawn to a close with an enjoyable banquet.

BOYS' "G" ASSOCIATION

DORIN HOLZAPFEL, President THOMAS BARRY, Vice-President DONALD McCLAIN, Secretary-Treasurer ROBERT MANGAN, Reporter H. C. METZGAR, Sponsor

Every boy who has earned a "G" automatically becomes a member of the Boys' "G" Association. This club encourages the wearing of the "G" and further interest in sportsmanship.

This year the G. A. A. girls entertained the "G" boys at a banquet. At this time the new members were formally initiated. A banquet of this sort is held every year, and the alumni members are always invited.

ART CLUB

FRANCES MOTE, President BARBARA BRAMBLE, Reporter

ROBERT JAMES, Vice-President BONNIE NEALEIGH, Treasurer MARY F. STEINMETZ, Secretary MARY LADD, Sponsor

The Art Club, one of the oldest in school, gives to its members a better appreciation and understanding of art. Regular meetings are held at which the various phases of art and the lives of famous artists are discussed.

DEUTSCHE VEREIN CLUB

MARJORIE RAHN, President ANNA LOU CRAIG, Vice-President PHYLLIS MINNICH, Secretary BOB MILLS, Treasurer LOHN E OLIVER Secretary

JOHN E. OLIVER, Sponsor

The German Club helps to promote interest in the German customs and language. By means of correspondence, many friendships have been formed between boys and girls of America and Germany.

At the meetings a great many interesting programs are given, including plays entirely in German, movies of German scenery, and various talks. The members learn several German songs and games.

DRAMATIC CLUB

DOROTHY BRAMBLE, President

IRENE PLESSINGER, Secretary and Treasurer
MARIANNA McGOWAN, Vice-President

ANNA LOU CRAIG, Reporter

VIVIAN NEWPORT, Sponsor

The Dramatic Club endeavors to develop the personalities of its members not only through mere study of dramatics, but also through actual participation. Various meetings were held during which there were readings, play reviews, and play tryouts.

The club sponsored its annual Christmas pageant, "Christmas in Song and Story," both for the student body and for the public.

The members presented a one-act comedy of modern youth, "Three's a Crowd."

The annual banquet, one of the social events of the vear, was held in May.

TENNIS CLUB

PHYLLIS MINNNICH, President

ELIZABETH ALLREAD, Vice-President

PEGGY ELLER, Secretary and Treasurer

MARIANNA McGOWAN, Reporter

WAYNE PALMER, Sponsor

The Tennis Club was formed last year and consists of students who believe that more interst should be manifested in this particular sport. It is hoped that as a result of their efforts the caliber of tennis teams produced by Greenville High School will be greatly improved.

Members were divided into two sections, depending upon their playing ability, and matches in mixed doubles were held both indoors and outdoors.

MODERN DAY HISTORY CLUB

FRANCES MOTE, President

EVELYN MAE SHEPHERD, Vice-President

HELEN SPENCE, Secretary-Treasurer

MARY A. SLONAKER, Reporter

OLA BROCK, Sponsor

As the interests of high school boys and girls have turned toward world affairs, the Modern Day History Club has grown in size and prestige.

During the year regular meetings were held at which talks, skits, readings, and debates were given. The members have gained a wealth of practical knowledge through their work in this organization. As a project, the Club donated a tulip bed for the campus.

SPANISH CLUB

ELOISE SAYLOR, President GEO
WILMA McCABE, Secretary MA
MARY F. STEINMETZ, Reporter

GEORGE SINK, Vice-President
MARY STEMLEY, Treasurer
O. O. OTTMAN, Sponsor

The Sociedad Castellana was organized in 1918 and has increased its popularity each year. The members study the life, literature, and songs of the Spanish speaking countries.

The Spanish Club banquet is one of the most unusual events of the year. At this affair many of the dishes served are exclusively Spanish. The remainder of the evening is spent in entertainment in the Spanish style.

HOME ECCNOMICS CLUB

MARY McGREEVEY, President DORIS MARSHALL, Vice-President
MARY ROLFE, Secretary
LYVONNE RANK, Treasurer
WILMA CREAMER, Sponsor

The Home Economics Club renders a real service to the school by supervising the serving and by planning many of its banquets. Throughout the year the members have learned many valuable facts about the care of the home.

Besides the regular meetings held during the year, there were several social events.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

JUNIOR-SENIOR GROUP

STANLEY NEFF, President GENE SHIELDS, Vice-President

JAMES GILBERT, Secretary

FRESHMAN-SOPHMORE GROUP

J. W. BROCK, President HARRY SHAHAN, Vice-President

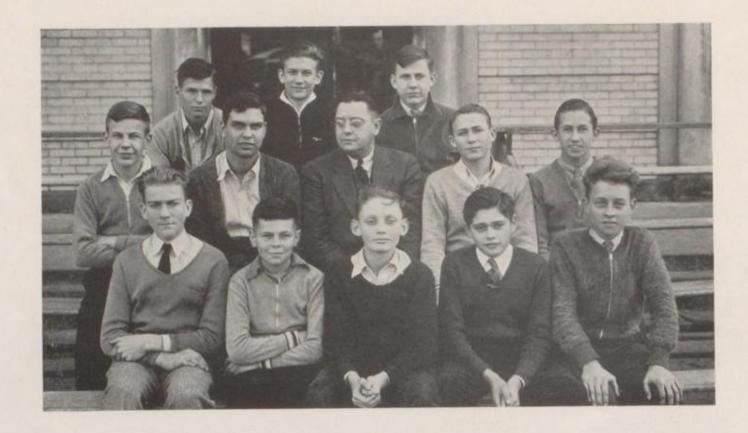

CLETUS BROWN, Secretary LAUREN KLUDY, Sponsor

The aim of the Future Farmers of America organization is to impress upon boys the importance of the farm in American life, and to instruct them in some of the fundamental practices of farming.

Because of the large enrollment, it has been necessary to divide the organization into two groups. During the year the club took a trip to Cincinnati, discussed bird and animal preservation, participated in a country-wide pest war, and took an active part in livestock, dairy, and grain judging. As an outside activity, the club organized a very successful basketball team.

MODEL AIRPLANE CLUB

JAMES WALLESCHECK, President

GEORGE MINNICH, Reporter WAYNE PALMER, Sponsor

The Model Airplane Club is a boon to the aeronautical minded boys of the high school. The members have become quite adept in the art of constructing model planes. Many skillful reproductions of famous airplanes have been made during the year.

Contests were held in the gym and out of doors to test the flying ability of the models. Points were given to the winners, and at the end of the year, a trophy was presented to the boy having the most points.

STUDENT ROUND TABLE

MR. PALMER, Sponsor

The purpose of the Student Round Table is to maintain and improve the splendid spirit in Greenville High School. The organization is a discussion group consisting of the cheerleaders and representatives from the classes and the clubs.

During the year the club plans and presents several snappy pep meetings.

INTERNATIONAL FRIENDSHIP CLUB

ANNA LOU CRAIG, President BOB HAWOR PHYLLIS FOWBLE, Secretary

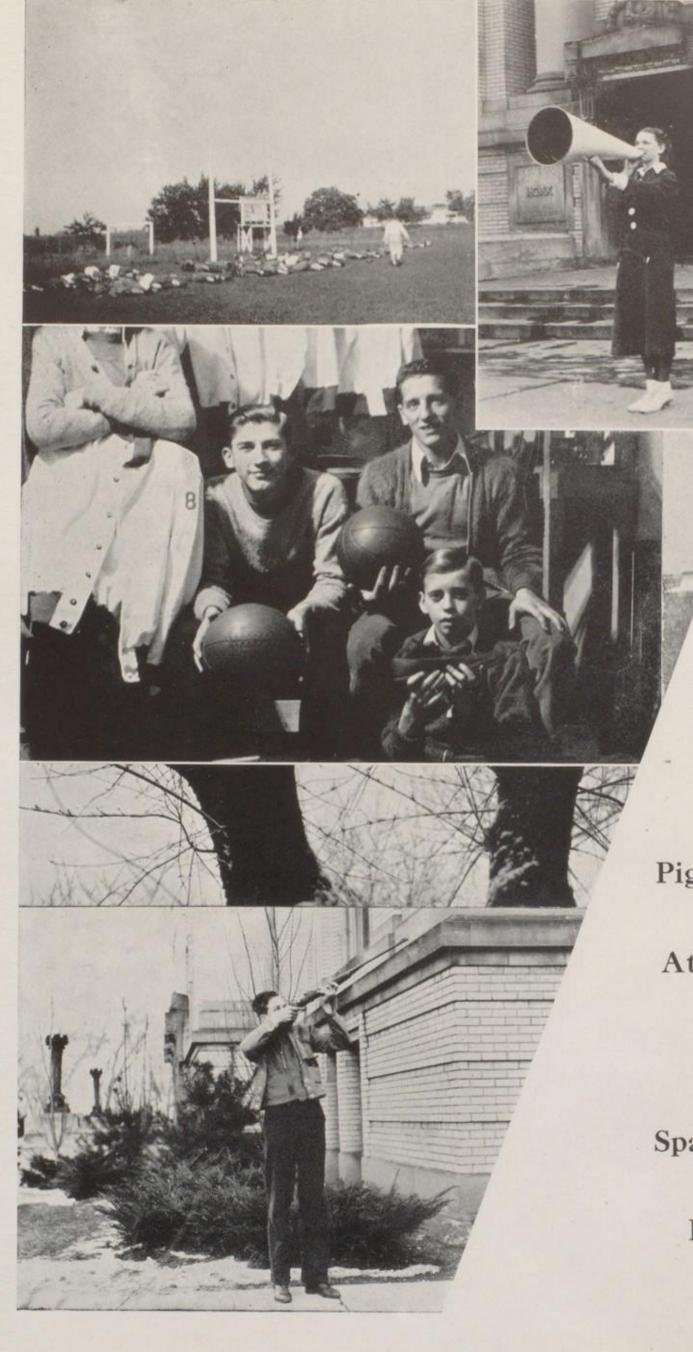

BOB HAWORTH, Vice-President

CHARLES KATZENBERGER, Treasurer ETHEL HATHAWAY, Sponsor

Although the International Friendship Club is in its infancy, it has prospects of becoming one of the most important clubs in the school. The organization is federated and hopes to become far reaching in its results—to promote feeling of friendship and understanding among the youth of the world.

Each member corresponds with a boy or girl from some distant land. A study has been made of the customs and dispositions of the inhabitants of various countries.

BASKETBALL

This year's team should be commended for having a lot of fight.

The past season has been used in developing a well-balanced squad. The underclassmen have gained a great deal of experience, and as only five seniors will be lost by graduation, a winning team is expected next year.

Coach Stoltz with the Varsity squad and Raach with the Reserves have done well with the squad.

Of this year's games, the Van Wert and Troy games were "tops." The Van Wert game, because of a brilliant scoring spree, giving the "Green" a 40-24 victory, rates as one of our outstanding count contest. The Fairmont game rates high because it gave us revenge by a 20-14 score for our last year's defeat at their hands. And in the Troy game, a lot of basketball in 32 minutes, we pushed the League Champions to their utmost to edge out a 13-16 victory.

TRACK

Greenville High School has established an enviable record in Track. In ten years of Miami League competition Coach Salzman's team has emerged victorious in eight Valley meets. This year's team, built around Arnold, Cox, Foster, Harter, King, Lephart, McGlinch, and Plessinger, successfully defended last year's championship. In several early meets records were established in the hundred-yard dash, high and low hurdles, and the mile run.

HUMOR

QUESTIONABLE QUANDARY

I am standing in front of the Sweet Shop, since that is the place where I usually stands, when I sees a beautiful doll coming up the side-walk, or is it down? Since she is the most beautiful doll I am seeing for a long time, I does not pass by a chance to get acquainted, so I pipes out in sort of a sweet manner:

"Hello, Babe. Swell day, if it ain't raining, isn't it?"

"Oh, hello. Say, are you in any way acquainted with this city? I'm a reporter representing The Weekly Rag, and I am on the hunt for interesting people. I thought that perhaps you could tell me of a few, that is, if you can.."

Oh, so she wants to go fresh, I am thinking. Well, I am soon showing her. I says, "My fair maiden, if you are interested in interesting people, you have accidently bumped into a right guy. The facts, although you will probably disbelieve me, since I am such a simple mug, are that I have quite an interesting line myself, but I'll let my own personality readily reveal itself. But if you really want to hear my discourse, what sayst ye that we go inside and guzzle a coke?"

She tells me that she is delighted, and I am thinking it is quite a pleasure to be interviewed by a doll, especially such a beautiful doll. After we are inside, I find that as I am sitting opposite Batty Fairflax, as I find her name to be, I am looking into the eyes of a really gorgeous Babe, and I am thinking it is going to be very hard for me to concentrate on a few interesting gals and guys for even a short while, but I am knowing it is an opportunity that I am not getting every two days in the year, so I starts out.

"Madam, perhaps at one time or another you may have heard of an organization, whether for good or for otherwise, which bears the name of Greenville High School. You are now gazing into the eyes of one of the inmates of this institution. As a member, I must at once tell you that its history is well-known, and also unknown. At present, there are quite a few of its members who have interesting records of interest, and, as I presume that is what you are after, I will at once go into detail."

I am noticing that Batty is perhaps not being interested in what I am saying, that is, until I am hitting the word "detail;" then I sees that her interest is taking quite a jump, so I guesses that I am better continuing, so I does.

"Our institution contains large numbers of mugs and dolls and so my descriptions will have to brief and limited. Perhaps you may not believe it, but it is a well known fact that there are over seven hundred inmates in this institution. Perhaps I had better get down to "detail."

"It is very hard for me to tell you of persons because I do not know which particular kind you prefer. We carry all kinds of dolls—blondes, brunettes, even a red head here and there; and mugs, well, we got all kinds.

'Perhaps you've heard of the mug who goes by the label 'Hip,' Like most of tacse cark and hardsome guys, his interest appeals more to the weaker sex. He also includes in setting the pace in the shorter sprints of our track neets, proving man, as I have already hinted, just one of these fast guys. Then among the dolls we have a labe who causes no end of heart trouble among the males. When a new boy moved into towa, I guess Marg just couldn't resist. Another doll that is quite the pleasing thing to look at, at least to some few boys, makes it a quite genuine habit to sign her cane at the end of sentences. Besides ending sentences she also has a heading, that of Editor In Chief of the Year Book, and I guess between ending and heading, she's just a Dot."

As I am looking at Miss Fairflax, I am seeing that she is not writing, and I am not being able to tell how I am feeling because I am thinking that perhaps she is finding that looking at me is pleasanter than writing. That is making me feel very fine, because I knows that it is not every two days in the year that such a gorgoons femme will view my features. Yet, on the other hand, I am wondering that perhaps she is not thinking what I am jabbering to be worth the minutes to write, and so I am being in somewhat of a quander, but I still continue to continue.

"Among other lads at our local lodge, we have a Mr. James. He's no relation to Jesse, although at times, I do think that perhaps they have something in common. Our Mr. James, his initial monaker being Bob, is quite a rather unbelievable character. Among his various occupations, those ranking high are that of fan dancing and boxing, which talents have been proven and disproven. He also has a gift of character acting, and believe it or not, can really make the dust fly.

"Greenville High also holds the honor of a corporation in its midst. Perhaps you may have heard of Baker and Hughes, Incorporated—Artists Extraordinary. These lads have done much for us on this year's Chief, which just goes to prove their widely famed ability, we hope."

Now I am being worried which is usually something unusual. Still there are no pencil-marks on the much-watched notebook. I am thinking of asking her what is the matter; but, my gosh, such beautiful babes aren't knocking at one's door every two days in the year, and if I am making her mad, maybe she is walking out on me; so I am surmising that perhaps it is best that I ramble on-so I does.

"Of other lassies that attend our local schooling system, it would be at least a misdemeal or, if not a felony, if we left out one so well known as Miss Mote, more popularly acknowledged as Moty. If you are to stay in Greenville for at least any short length of time, you are sure to hear of her, if not her, which is more presumable. And I believe with that, surely enough has been said. Ah, yes! Then I must tell you of Glendale. There is quite a bit that could be said of this worthy inmate, but if you are really anxious to learn about this massive person, just inquire of him and the truth will come out soon enough—and then some.

"Our high school is also very fortunate in having a maestro in its midst. He goes by the name, 'Bill,' and from personal experience I can readily swear that Bill can swing a very mean baton. Besides leading a band, he also toots a wicked clarinet, and between him and a Mr. Haworth, otherwise monakered as Whitie, there is much rivalry as to who can blow the hottest reed. Whitie does all of his musical illustrations on the saxaphone."

I am now noticing that Miss Fairflax is laying her pencil and tablet on the table, and then I am seeing that she is looking me straight in the eyes, and I am finding it very difficult to look straight in the eyes back at her, for when such a beautiful creature is looking you straight in the eye, it is about knocking you over, but I'm thinking that until she is telling me to stop, I am keeping on going, and so I does.

"Have you ever heard of the 'Four Houseman?' Yes, but the wrong four. institution of which I am so often speaking has the honor of housing the original four horseman. The combination Barry, King, Snyder, and, last but not least, Replogle, will not be easily forgotten. Practically everyone of this generation will remember how they tramped down the field time and time again. Ah, that is a memory that many of the present inmates will remember. But the great gridiron game is not the only game that has its stars around here. Maybe it has been your privilege to hear of the famous Greenville Wonders. A finer net team never swished the basket. Those whose accuracy was noted, whether good or bad, were "Foozy" Hayes, famous pivot man for the Green Wave, and Don "Coily" Stutsman, famous for his close guarding whether on the floor or elsewhere. Don McClain was noted for his swiftness, and it is a much questioned question between the two which should escort Ginger McGowan to Greenville's hot spots. I must not forget the high school newspaper. Quite a bit could be said about its editor. Under her high position she has quite bit of control and uses it to a great extent. As a writer she has quite a bit of promise. Martie has an assistant who is quite helpful at times. At least they say that Jim makes a pretty good bodyguard. On the same line as our newspaper, I must mention the school's poet laureate, Mr. Wagner. Eugene's fame as a rhymer is very

"I shouldn't let you go without mentioning a few more of our most worthy mugs and dolls. It might be your privilege sometime or others to meet the one-woman man, Pei Perry. Then we have the lighter type of flirt, examples pelopotentiary being Mills, Schultz, Davis, Craig, and Lephart. These mugs differ from the other type in that their dealings with the dolls are not so vicious, if one might use the word.

"In our class there are quite a few people who pull down rather pleasing grades. Grace Cotter and Glenn Harter being two who are all-around good kids besides being pretty smart.

"Then there are a few other females who have rather interesting careers. We have a young lady who has acquired the nickname 'Liz.' This young doll has a very useful habit, which is that of writing notes. Of course, she is not the only person who has acquired such a habit. In fact, it is probably the best sort of communitive system that has yet been installed in the institution. There are other lads and lassies who must bide with Uncle Sam in sending their "heart arrows." Usually their boys are at college, but they manage to come home every once in a while. An example of these girls is a very cute redhead who has quite a knowledge, at least, from all outward appearances it so seems. Marky is another example of being true to a college boy. You'll know her by her 'frat' pin."

And now as I am looking at Miss Batty, I am thinking that she is crying, because she is having tears in her eyes, and I am readily wondering why. Is it being that what I am telling her is so sad, or is she thinking of someone else? I am thinking that this is being quite a mystery, especially as for such a divine looking doll that is before me, but I am also thinking that I have not told her of some of our very interesting teachers, so I must proceed, so I does.

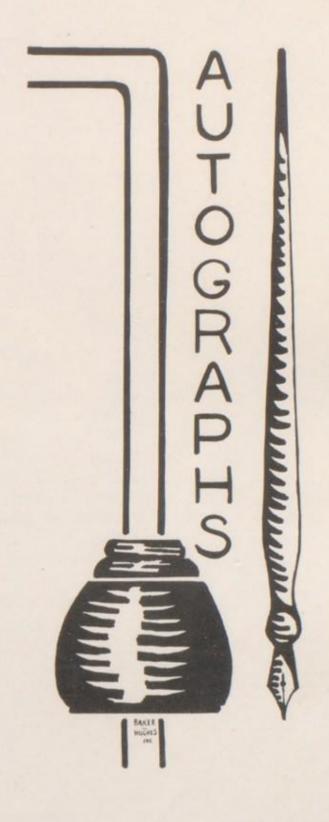

"Although some of our students are verw interesting, we maintain a faculty at our institution which might easily surpass the students in interesting qualities. One of our most popular instructors is a bird named Palmer. Mr. Palmer has a very drawing personality, and any time you are passing by his room, you are sure to be finding that there is a swarm of guys and gals talking to him. Then there is our romantic historian, Mr. Phelps. Any time he is making it his fancy, he can wrap a tuba around himself and sing "The Music Goes Round and Round," to the delighted pleasure of his listeners. Ed Stoltz is the coach of whom something must be said. He is known to be quite a woman-hater, although the girls cannot be said to return the feeling. In fact many of them have been heard to say that Ed is a snitzy dresser. I might also speak of our leading 'Show-Putter-Oner,' Mr. Brown. He is known to have made our music department very musical. Mr. Warner, the man behind the desk, is known very much to be a 'Right Guy,' also.

"I am thinking that it is time to be mentioning the doll teachers. One of the most beautifous of our teachers is Miss Ladd. She has managed to make artists of a surprisingly surprising number of boys. Miss Newport, besides being a teacher in English, is having connections with many of the dramatics of the school. If there's anyone who can blush beautifully, it is being Miss Warrick, who, between blushes, teaches English. Miss Deeter is the school's own buggist and wormist. Her room is crawling with frog, fish, snakes, and other oddities which one is not seeing so much in this machine age."

After I am getting done saying this, I am finding that Miss Fairflax is breaking down in her handkerchief, and she is sobbing very hard, and I am still thinking that I cannot possibly stand it any longer; so I am breaking out and saying, "Say Babe, I wish you would stop sobbing. It is making me feel rotten also, and that is one way I don't like to feel."

Then suddenly something happens that is amazingly amazing in its suddenness. The skirt shakes her head and sobs to me the whole story. It seems that she has been enduring agonizing agony throughout my entire monologue. At the very beginning of my amazing tale, the beautiful doll has broken the point of her pencil, and she is not being able to write down what I have been so engrossingly telling her. This is making me cry very much, because it is paining me painfully to think that such a marvelous tale is to go to waste, never to be recorded.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Without the co-operation of the faculty, the Senior Class, and the citizens of Greenville, this Annual would have been an impossibility.

We wish especially to thank Mr. Paul Warner, Mr. Ottman, Mr. Kludy, and those English teachers who aided us by checking our copy. The following students also helped us immeasurably: Bonnie Nealeigh, Mary Alice Slonaker, Barbara Bramble, Jane Hankins, Phyllis Minnich, Elizabeth Allread, Marianna McGowan, Lois Puterbaugh, Harry Davis, Ralph Plessinger, Irene Plessinger, Robert Perry, Don McClain, and Bob James.

Printing was done by the W. H. Williams Co., Greenville. The engraving was done by Jahn & Ollier Co., Toledo, Ohio.
